

MESA FALLS

Mesa Falls

To experience Mother Nature at her finest, buckle up for this spectacular ride in eastern Idaho. Your destination may be Mesa Falls, but along the way you'll enjoy picture-perfect views of the Grand Teton Mountains against lush farmland, the legendary Henry's Fork of the Snake River shimmering in the sunlight, and trumpeter swans gliding in Harriman State Park's Silver Lake.

Plan a full day to experience Mesa Falls and its visitor center, take a leisurely walk in Harriman State Park, and hike up a few sand dunes. Pack binoculars, sneakers, water shoes, and a fly rod.

Fort Henry Scenic Byway – from Island Park to Kilgore – is an unpaved, hard-packed dirt road. Drive slowly but enjoy the rustic solitude this route provides.

BLUE RIBBON WATERS

A mecca for fly fishermen the world over, Henry's Fork of the Snake River is prized for its trout and meandering, picturesque waters. Box Canyon is one of the more accessible fishing areas, and the waters in Harriman State Park offer some of the best dry fly fishing anywhere.

MESA FALLS

Along Henry's Fork of the Snake River, Upper and Lower Mesa Falls tumble dramatically over volcanic rock that's more than a million years old. Experience the beauty of the Upper Falls from a viewing platform near the Mesa Falls Visitor Center. Hike a mile to the Lower Falls or drive south on the Mesa Falls Scenic Byway to the Grandview Overlook.
